§ BEARING

Senior Product Manager with nearly ten years of experience taking complex B2B software from early-stage traction to scalable, commercially grounded products. Track record spans InsurTech, public-sector analytics, and defence AI platforms – consistently in environments where requirements are incomplete, stakeholders are multiple, and delivery discipline has to be built or rebuilt from the ground up. Equally comfortable defining ICP and value proposition with Commercial teams and unblocking infrastructure-level issues with Engineering. Fluent in AI-native product workflows and capable of autonomous end-to-end feature delivery when needed.

§ CORE STRENGTHS

- 0→1 product development in B2B SaaS and platform environments
- ICP definition, value proposition sharpening, and commercial roadmap alignment
- Translating messy operational workflows into scalable, dev-ready requirements
- Discovery and validation with direct customer contact
- Preventing one-off client requests from fragmenting long-term product health
- Cross-functional alignment across Engineering, Commercial, and Operations
- Sprint discipline, backlog management, and delivery ownership
- Technical fluency: meaningful trade-off conversations with engineers
- German native; natural customer communication in DACH markets
