§ WHY EPI COMPANY

Wero is solving a real problem: European payments are fragmented, and a bank-backed wallet with 16 institutions behind it has the distribution to fix that. The focus on onboarding, activation, and retention inside a mobile app is exactly the kind of user-journey work I have done at CLINET and at Kvitt Payment Solutions. The Pan-European, fully remote team structure is a working environment I know well. That context makes this role a natural next step, not a stretch.

§ SIDE PROJECT

KVITT PAYMENT SOLUTIONS GITHUB.COM/HILBERTP →

Mobile group P2P payments, built from zero to acquisition.

- Designed the payment flow and user experience for splitting and settling group bills on mobile.
 - Built on top of the girocard ecosystem with Sparkasse as the acquiring operator.
 - Taken from founding to exit, covering product, go-to-market, and operations.
 - Direct analogue to Wero's P2P and consumer wallet scope: same user problems, same regulated rails.

§ HOW I WOULD WORK AT EPI COMPANY

First weeks, concrete.

WEEK 1

Listen, map, find the gaps.

I read the existing onboarding funnel analytics, sit in on sprint reviews across the Wero app team, and map where users drop off between install and first payment.

WEEK 2

Sharpen the roadmap.

I compare the current roadmap against the activation and retention gaps I found, flag the three items with the clearest data backing, and propose a prioritisation frame the team can pressure-test.

WEEK 3+

Ship and close loops.

I take ownership of the first scoped initiative end to end, run the discovery and delivery cycle, and set up the measurement so we know within two sprints whether it moved the metric.

I COVER LETTER

Dear EPI Company team,

Payments is a domain I have worked in from two directions. At Kvitt Payment Solutions I built a mobile P2P group-payments product from zero, ran it inside the girocard ecosystem, and took it to acquisition by Sparkasse. That gave me a close view of consumer payment behaviour, onboarding friction, and the regulatory constraints that shape what you can and cannot ship. More recently I have led product for a healthcare mobile app at CLINET where I cut a failing roadmap down to the 10% of features that actually mattered for user activation, and user acceptance rose more than fivefold as a result.

Wero's challenge, getting users across Europe from install to habitual use of a new digital wallet, is the problem I want to work on. The onboarding, activation, engagement, and retention focus you describe in the posting is the exact scope I gravitate toward, and the data-driven angle matches how I work: I instrument competing workflows before picking one, and I treat conversion and funnel metrics as first-class product signals.

The fintech and payments domain knowledge you list as a plus is one I have both from the founder side (Kvitt) and from working alongside compliance and security teams in regulated environments at the Federal Employment Agency and Bundesdruckerei. I understand that external stakeholders, in your case the 16 member banks, have hard constraints that the product roadmap has to absorb, and I have managed exactly that kind of multi-stakeholder alignment at Rohde & Schwarz across multinational FCAS programme partners.

I am an EU citizen based in Berlin, fluent in English and German, and comfortable in a fully remote Pan-European team. I can be available within four weeks of an offer.

Best regards, Philipp Hilbert

II CURRICULUM VITAE

§ PROFILE

Product manager and product owner with 13 years of product ownership in regulated industries for payments, fintech, insurance, healthcare, public-sector analytics, and defence AI. I run continuous discovery, turn strategy, user needs, and technical constraints into requirements and a prioritised roadmap, and lead cross-functional teams through agile delivery (Scrum, Kanban, SAFe).

§ HOW I WORK

- I leave my ego at home. I want to drive the decision, not to have the last word.
 - On a new product I spend a little to learn before spending a lot to build. Cheap experiments make expensive decisions safe(r).
 - Outcome over output. Producing something is not the achievement; it also has to fit a market, so I agree what would count as success before we build and check afterwards whether it happened.
 - I keep the whole value chain in view, not just the backlog. Defect-to-fix time is a product metric; architects and DevOps engineers build that chain, my job is to steer it into the right lanes.
