§ WHY FORBES ADVISOR

Forbes Advisor is building owned insurance propositions that span partner-delivered and direct-to-consumer models, exactly the commercial structure where end-to-end product ownership matters most. The posting calls out partner APIs, funnel optimisation, and CRM as things one person needs to hold together, which matches how I have worked across insurance, healthcare and payments. The EMIL Group role gave me direct experience cutting time-to-market for a new insurance product from months to under a week inside a B2B SaaS platform for insurers and brokers. That is the kind of proposition ownership this role is asking for.

§ SIDE PROJECT

CONSTRUCT8 GITHUB.COM/HILBERTP →

Two-sided B2B marketplace matching construction firms with workers, built and operated solo.

- Anonymity-until-payment model that protects both sides until commitment is made.
 - WhatsApp and Telegram as the product surface; LLM agents handle the funnel so one person runs daily operations.
 - Funnel and conversion analysis in SQL; full 0-to-1 build including commercial model design.
 - Demonstrates the partner-economics and funnel-ownership skills this role requires in a live, revenue-generating context.

§ HOW I WOULD WORK AT FORBES ADVISOR

First weeks, concrete.

WEEK 1

Listen, map, find the gaps.

Walk every active partner integration and the current customer journey from acquisition through in-life engagement, talk to Engineering and Commercial, and identify where the funnel leaks and where partner API constraints are limiting the roadmap.

WEEK 2

Audit and prioritise.

Take what I learned and produce a prioritised backlog with clear acceptance criteria, separating quick wins on the existing proposition from the structural items that need partner alignment.

Ship and measure.

Run the first test with the Optimisation team, close the loop on tracking gaps, and get the first backlog items into delivery, starting to build the cadence the team can rely on.

I COVER LETTER

Dear Forbes Advisor team,

Forbes Advisor is building insurance propositions it owns end-to-end, and you need a product manager who can hold the commercial model, the partner relationships and the customer funnel in one view at the same time. That is the kind of role I have been doing for 13 years.

At EMIL Group I owned the Claims Center from concept to production on a B2B SaaS platform serving insurers, reinsurers, brokers and underwriters. When I joined, an 18-person delivery organisation was losing its senior engineers and its client trust. I restructured it into three lean teams, stopped the attrition, and cut time-to-market for a new insurance product from months to under a week. Earlier, at AOK ITSCare, I migrated a legacy procurement system to Shopware for three AOK public health insurers and around 20,000 employees, a product still running in production.

The posting specifically asks for someone comfortable with partner APIs and integrations, and that has been a recurring part of my work. At CLINET Platforms I owned the CGM (CompuGroup Medical) hospital information system integration that took a digital anamnesis from 30 minutes to 5. At Rohde & Schwarz I drove a GitOps pipeline that cut rollout time from days to 30 minutes across multinational teams. I am used to sitting between Engineering and a third-party partner and keeping both sides moving.

On the funnel and data side: I instrument what I build. At Rohde & Schwarz I ran two competing workflows in parallel and used the click data to kill the wrong one. At construct8 I track conversion in SQL across a WhatsApp and Telegram funnel with LLM agents handling the day-to-day. The Forbes Advisor role asks for someone who will own tracking, drive experimentation, and close the loop post-launch, that is how I work on every product.

I am based in Berlin, work remotely, and can start within four weeks. I would be glad to talk through how I would approach the proposition you are building.

Best regards, Philipp Hilbert

II CURRICULUM VITAE

§ PROFILE

Product manager and product owner with 13 years of product ownership in regulated industries, including insurance, public-sector analytics, healthcare, payments and defence AI. I run continuous discovery, turn partner economics, user needs and technical constraints into requirements and a prioritised roadmap, and lead cross-functional teams through agile delivery (Scrum, Kanban, SAFe).

§ HOW I WORK

- I leave my ego at home. I want to drive the decision, not to have the last word.
 - On a new product I spend a little to learn before spending a lot to build. Cheap experiments make expensive decisions safe(r).
 - Outcome over output. Producing something is not the achievement; it also has to fit a market, so I agree what would count as success before we build and check afterwards whether it happened.
 - I keep the whole value chain in view, not just the backlog. Defect-to-fix time is a product metric; architects and DevOps engineers build that chain, my job is to steer it into the right lanes.
