§ WHY TASC OUTSOURCING

TASC operates at the intersection of HR services and technology in the UAE, a market I have actively targeted and understand as more than a geography: the combination of a maturing regulatory environment, rapid enterprise digitisation, and a workforce that spans dozens of nationalities creates genuinely hard product problems around localisation, compliance, and trust. The posting calls out the UAE market specifically, and I am already prepared to relocate to Dubai or Abu Dhabi on short notice. What draws me here is the chance to own the full product arc, discovery through delivery, for a platform where the stakes are real for both the hiring firm and the individual worker. That is exactly the kind of accountability where my work compounds fastest.

§ SIDE PROJECT

CONSTRUCT8 GITHUB.COM/HILBERTP →

A two-sided B2B marketplace matching construction firms with workers, built to take the headhunter out of the hire.

- Anonymity-until-payment model that protects both sides until commitment is confirmed.
 - WhatsApp and Telegram as the primary product surface, removing app-install friction for a blue-collar audience.
 - LLM agents across the funnel so a team of one can run day-to-day operations.
 - Funnel and conversion analysis in SQL; directly transferable to TASC's platform analytics needs.

§ HOW I WOULD WORK AT TASC OUTSOURCING

First weeks, concrete.

WEEK 1

Listen, map, find the gaps.

Shadow sales calls and customer success interactions to map the actual workflows users follow when placing and filling roles, then audit the existing backlog against what I hear for coverage gaps.

WEEK 2

Slice and prioritise.

Run a backlog review session with engineering and design to identify the top three items by user impact versus implementation cost, and produce a draft sprint plan with acceptance criteria the team can commit to.

WEEK 3+

Ship and measure.

Facilitate the first sprint review as product owner, instrument the release with the relevant KPIs, and close the feedback loop with stakeholders before the next planning cycle.

I COVER LETTER

Dear Hiring Team at TASC Outsourcing,

I am writing to apply for the Product Manager role. With thirteen years of product ownership across regulated B2B environments, insurance, defence AI, public-sector analytics, healthcare, and fintech, I have built and shipped products end-to-end, from user research and backlog prioritisation through to Agile delivery and post-launch measurement. The scope you describe, owning vision, strategy, and roadmap while facilitating Scrum ceremonies and aligning cross-functional stakeholders, is the work I do daily.

What makes this role specifically interesting is the UAE market context. I have been targeting the Gulf as a relocation destination for some time and am prepared to move to Dubai or Abu Dhabi at short notice. I understand that a workforce platform in the UAE faces product challenges that do not exist elsewhere: a highly international employee population, layered compliance requirements, and the need to earn trust quickly with both the enterprise buyer and the individual worker. I built construct8, a two-sided B2B marketplace for construction staffing, specifically to solve that last problem, an anonymity-until-payment model that protects each party until commitment is established. That work sharpened my instincts for two-sided platforms, conversion funnel analysis, and the operational mechanics of matching supply to demand.

On the delivery side, I bring hands-on Agile depth. At Rohde & Schwarz I led a cross-functional team of fifteen engineers and data scientists through Scrum in Jira, running sprint planning, stand-ups, sprint reviews, and retrospectives for a defence-grade AI and data platform. At CLINET Platforms I inherited a backlog a five-person team could not deliver, cut it to the top ten percent of features against agreed success measures, and saw user acceptance rise more than fivefold. At EMIL Group I restructured an eighteen-person delivery organisation that was losing its senior engineers, formed three lean teams with their own leads, and shipped the Claims Center from concept to production. In each case, the discipline was the same: clear user stories with acceptance criteria, a prioritised backlog, and honest communication with stakeholders on status, risks, and trade-offs.

I am equally comfortable translating customer requirements into technical specifications and working directly with engineering and design. My background in industrial engineering means I read architecture diagrams and system constraints without difficulty; my product instinct is to protect the engineering team from noise while keeping them pointed at the highest-value work.

I would welcome the chance to speak in more detail about the role and the product challenges TASC is working through. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best regards, Philipp Hilbert
